"Ski Hut" Opened At Winne's Store

"Winne's Ski Hut," a most complete rustic structure, has been opened at the rear of the L. S. Winne & Company hardware and sporting goods store at 328 Wall street. The hut was constructed by employees of the store and is a reproduction of a northern ski hut built entirely from rustic wood and slabs. So realistic is the hut that patches of green moss have been cleverly introduced to give a natural appearance and there is also generous sprinkling of snow to add to the touch of winter. While the exterior of the hut may have the appearance of a rustic mountain cabin the interior is far different. There has been collected a complete stock of ski equipment from all lands of the world. Both domestic and imported equipment, which would make any ski enthusiast's heart quiver, is displayed. From the snow countries of America and Europe have been brought all kinds of ski equipment and tools, presenting a complete stock from head to foot for the lover of this popular winter sport.

In the hut has been arranged this very complete stock of novel merchandise and outside the hut hangs a Ski Shop welcome sign which has been electrically lighted to beckon the prospective customer to the shop as he enters the front of the store.

The Winne Ski Shop is a store in itself where every possible kind of item relative to skiing is shown from Parkas, poles, skis, shoes, gloves, down to the small item of ski wax. Also carried in the hut is a line of toboggans, skates and sleds.

With the opening of a number of ski trails in the Catskill mountains and in other sections of the county, hundreds of snow-minded people pay winter visits to this section each winter. With improved ski trails, ski jumps and runs it is expected that the coming winter will be the most successful thus far. The New York Central Railroad has already scheduled snow trains to run to Ulster county shortly after the first of January and with the proper amount of snow and good weather conditions winter sports in the county will bring to Ulster county hotels and boarding houses considerable winter trade.

MILTON

Milton, Nov. 23.—Monday evening a card party was sponsored by the service and hospitality committee and held in the Milton Grange Hall. Dominoes and pinocle and bridge followed by refreshments constituted the evening program.

The sum of $203 was realized from the chicken dinner sponsored Thursday evening by St. James Church. Over 200 patrons were served from 5:30 to 8:30 p. m. From 9 p. m. dancing was enjoyed by music from Edward Lorenz's orchestra.

The mission which has been conducted the past week in St. James Church by the Rev. James P. Clark, C. S. S. R., closed Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Morning Mass and evening service has been held each day, with a special service each afternoon at 3:30 o'clock for the children. Father Clark will conduct a mission in St. Augustine's Church, Highland, this week.

A meeting of the Mads and Matrons was held Tuesday afternoon in connection with the Home Bureau. Mrs. Black of Modena was the guest speaker. Her topic was "Table Arrangements" which comes under the Home Bureau project "The Hostess Entertains." A committee of Home Bureau members served refreshments.

Charles Bloomer attended the wedding of his cousin, Miss Gertrude Watkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Watkins, to Kenneth Grey of Newburgh, on Saturday, in the home of the bride's parents. More than a hundred guests were present.

Solicitors for the local Red Cross roll call are Mrs. Clarence Dayton, Mrs. P. V. Bunker, Mrs. A. J. Booth, Mrs. Edward Barton, Mrs. G. C. Ferguson, Miss Lula E. Clarke, Miss Elizabeth Taber and Robert Wilke. The offering from the union Thanksgiving service to be held in the Methodist Church Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock will be given to the Red Cross.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Zimmerman and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Margraf of Clintondale and Miss Margaret Hoffman of Jersey City and Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Woolsey were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Woolsey.

The Boy Scouts realized $23.85 from their food sale on Saturday afternoon, November 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Martucci and son, Harry, of Bridgeport, spent the week-end with Mrs. Martucci.

The Board of Education of the Central School Board held a special meeting Monday afternoon in an attempt to arbitrate the strike which has been holding up work on the Milton new school building for the past three weeks. Walking delegates from the various unions which have men at work on the project, were present as well as representatives of the four contractors. The outcome of the meeting was not heard of by our correspondent at this writing.

Principal Carl Ernest and Mrs. Ernest, Miss Marie Abruzzese and Patrick Matavaza attended the get-together of teachers of Ulster county sponsored by the school superintendents and held Monday evening in Kingston Municipal Auditorium.

Christmas Club payments at the First National Bank of Milton and Marlborough this year will amount to about $9,400. At Milton, about December 1 the Milton bank will pay its club members who have increased since 1935 from $3,200 to $3,500. In Milton last year $2,500 was the Christmas Club total. At Marlborough $5,900 will be paid to club members on Thursday, December 3.

At the regular meeting of the Milton Grange Miss Miriam Sears was elected lecturer of the Grange. The office was left vacant at the annual election. Mrs. Edward Wood was elected Ceres as that office had been filled by Miss Sears. Miss Sears, Frank Wood and Charles Bloomer were appointed delegates to Potomac Grange which convenes in Rosendale early in December. The annual report of the Service and Hospitality committee was given by Mrs. Harry Vandervoort, the committee chairman. Mrs. Charles R. Taber presented the lecturer's program. R. C. Dikem, an agriculture teacher of the Marlborough Central School, was guest speaker. Mrs. Irving Clarke and William Donaldson were guest soloists. Mrs. Jane W. Clarke accompanied at the piano. Miss Eleanor Young conducted the recreation period. Mrs. Jane W. Clarke, Miss Lulu Clarke, Walter R. Clarke and son, James, were on the refreshment committee. Monday evening, December 7, the recently elected officers will be inducted.

George Merles, Jr., William Collins, Thomas Gavin, and John Donovan were among those who visited the automobile show in New York city.

Furnaces and heating apparatuses have been installed in the two residences occupied by Mr. and Mrs. George Barnes and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Miller on Church street. Both houses have also been painted.

Licenses Revoked And Suspended

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 27.—Eight hundred and eleven certificates of automobile registration and licenses to drive were revoked or suspended by the commissioner of motor vehicles during the two weeks ended November 14. Of these cases 228 will require proof of financial responsibility before applications for new licenses will be considered. There were 22 revocations and 417 suspensions in New York city and vicinity, and 154 revocations and 168 suspensions in other parts of the state.

In the Albany district there were 13 revocations and 44 suspensions. Only two drivers with addresses in this vicinity were among those affected. Anthony Yalowski of Wallkill had his license revoked for reckless driving and Judge B. Cohen, 52, Malden Lane, Kingston, had his suspended for reckless driving.

October Rains Exceed Normal

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 21.—More than the normal amount of rain, with temperatures and sunshine about normal, marked weather conditions for the month of October, according to the monthly summary by the weather bureau maintained at Cornell by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Rainfall averaged nearly one and one-quarter inches above the normal amount, the heaviest for any month since March. Most of it was received in the Mohawk Valley and in the northern sections of the state, and the lightest rainfall was in the regions of the Atlantic coast and the Great Lakes, the report says.

"In most sections enough rain fell to put the top soil in good condition. Springs and wells also benefited. Snowfall was light and was confined almost entirely to the northern plateau.

"Meadows, pastures, and winter grains were helped. Potato yields were light in many upstate areas, mainly because of drought early in the season. The bean harvest was delayed to some extent by the rains and some spoiled. Late cabbage responded well. By the close of the month, apple picking was about completed, and most other crops were under cover. More than the usual amount of fall plowing was done during the month."

party on Monday evening, December 21, in the church basement.

The annual donation of the Reformed Church was held Thursday evening, November 19, in the church basement. A fine supper was enjoyed followed by a dart ball game. The number present and the generous donations demonstrated in a measure, the regard with which the members and friends of the church hold their pastor, the Rev. Ben Scholten, and his family.

The Reformed Sunday School will hold their annual supper for Sunday School members and their families in the church basement on Wednesday evening, December 23. The supper will be followed by a short entertainment and Christmas tree with Santa Claus presiding. About twelve ladies of the Reformed Church spent Saturday with Mrs. Clifford Warren and Mrs. Leonard Warren at their home in Summitville. A pot luck lunch was enjoyed at noon. In the early afternoon, the guests departed for home, thanking the Warrens for their hospitality.

City Officials Are in Newburgh

Mayor C. J. Hebelman and a group of city officials motored to Newburgh this morning to attend the regional conference of the State Mayors' Conference which is being held in the city hall in that city. Local city and village problems were discussed informally, and also municipal legislation. Superintendent Conway of the Board of Public Works had planned to attend the conference but owing to the storm of last night decided that it might be wiser to remain in Kingston to take charge of the snow situation here.

CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND

In order to make this year's Christmas Cheer drive a success the cooperation of all in a position to contribute is necessary. Money will be needed as well as gifts of toys, etc., which are being collected, repaired and made ready for the needy children of the city. A large number of residents are showing hearty interest in this way of bringing Christmas cheer into homes but there are also a large number who feel that the governmental agencies take care of this need.

As has been proven in other years this private endeavor is absolutely essential if the true Christmas spirit is to be brought into many local homes. Private charity helps individuals and often obviates permanent public expenditures, which the taxpayer must meet. The great heart of the American people beats first and most effectively in the philanthropy of the private source and our social program as a people originated in relatively small gifts from private agencies. This same spirit is needed today.

It would greatly facilitate this beneficent work if those who can contribute would be willing to send checks to Mrs. A. duBois Ross, finance chairman, care of the Mayor's office, city hall building.

HOW LARGE A BUDGET?

What will be the size of the budget Governor Lehman will submit to the legislature during the session of 1937? This question should occupy the attention of the lawmakers and the taxpayers. There can be no question that an increased budget will unquestionably necessitate the recommendation of new taxes by the governor and it will be the job of the Republican controlled Assembly to fight for administrative economy in government as against the imposition of new taxes.

The ever-mounting budgets make for a dreary fiscal picture and the almost annual bond issues make for an equally heavy tax burden, which eventually will have to be paid by the people.

Assemblyman Moffat, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, is already at work scrutinizing the existing appropriations of state departments with a view to ascertaining just how economies may be brought to those departments without impairing their efficiency or scope of service. Speaker Ives and other legislative leaders are also giving attention to the fiscal condition of the state in preparation of the coming session.

Restoration of the one cent a gallon emergency tax on gasoline, which the Republican Assembly repealed this year, will again be resisted by the Republican members of the legislature. It has been indicated. The Republican lawmakers believe that the car owners of the state have been used as tax targets long enough.

RUSSIAN POWER

Russia learned her military lesson in the World War, when hordes of peasants were sent unarmed against the Prussian war machine and mowed down like grain. The first thing done by the Communist government after the revolution was to start building a Russian war machine. Now that task, proceeding step by step with industrial development, is about done.

On November 7 the 19th anniversary of the revolution was celebrated by "the mightiest army in the world", 2,000,000 strong, marching from dawn to dark in review before Detsky Stadium in the Red Square of Moscow, saluting as they passed him by raising their clenched right hands. With them paraded machine guns, tanks, heavy artillery and other paraphernalia of a modern military army.

Nobody will bother Russia now. Nobody thinks of it, apparently, except Germany and Japan, and in their selfishness they don't dare starting a trade war, a brain-war in the Nazi leadership or a general embolment started by Mussolini, it seems unlikely that Soviet Russia will send that army beyond her own borders. She is far more interested in developing her own vast resources and her new social-economic system than in troubling her neighbors.

THE WAY YOU SAY IT

Dentists are becoming euphemists. Reaching uncertainly for a dictionary, we find that euphemism is "the substitution of a mild or indirect word or expression for one unpleasant or offensive, though more accurate." Thus the profession for some time has been using the artificial word "denture" for a set of artificial teeth. Maybe there's a poetic appropriateness in using artificial words for artificial things, but we needn't go into that.

At a recent convention of dentists a speaker frankly discussed "psychological principles in dealing with patients" and gave some practical advice. Psychology has to be used in this profession, even more perhaps than in the medical profession; for if the patients really knew what they were up against they'd stay away, or run away. So the dental psychologist, if he follows expert advice, will not use such harsh words as "extract" and "grind" and "cut" and "remove" and "smooth" and so on. The process may be rough, but the language will be gentle. Wherein may be read a great truth, practiced by wise men since the world began—that, generally speaking, "it isn't so much what you say as the way you say it."

That Body of Yours

HOT FOOT BATHS FOR COLDS.

One of the humorous illustrations of former years was that of an individual, sneezing and blowing his nose, sitting with feet in hot water. Hot water was thought to be helpful in breaking up or warding off a cold. Thus it was not unusual for those who had been out in the cold and dampness to put their feet in hot water at the earliest opportunity.

It would seem that in these days of trying to keep blood and tissues alkaline, the use of drugs to produce heat and perspiration, and the application of adrenalin (epinephrine) and ephedrine (the Chinese drug) to "dry up" the great amount of water that is formed in the nose in head colds, nasal catarrh and hay fever, that putting the feet in hot water to break up or ward off attacks of the above ailments has gone out of fashion.

It is interesting therefore to read of the experiments of a European research physician, O. Muck, who studied the effects of hot foot baths in these attacks of sneezing, congestion of nose and nasal catarrh. He was able to show that hot foot baths will reduce or completely counteract attacks of vasomotor rhinitis-inflammation of lining of nose causing catarrh or excess fluid.

Now this knowledge that hot foot baths (by stimulating the circulation and drawing blood from the head) help to break up or prevent head colds, acute catarrhal attacks and congestion of the nose, should not make us forget that other methods are also of help in correcting or preventing these conditions.

The old family method of giving a dose of salts has much to recommend it. The salts not only cleanse the intestine, help to take accumulated poisons of the blood, stimulate the flow of bile which destroys harmful organisms, but also alkalize the blood.

The use of drugs to create heat is helpful as heat stimulates the body's fighting forces. And the eating of alkaline foods—fruit and vegetables—instead of the acid foods—meats, eggs, fish and cereals—is also a definite step toward keeping blood and tissues more alkaline. Because the more nearly acid the blood and tissues become the less able is the body to fight off any ailment.

The thought then is that while our newer methods—cleansing bowel, creating heat and alkalizing blood and tissues—are all helpful, the old-fashioned method of putting the feet in hot water has been proven by scientific investigation to be most effective in preventing or breaking up attacks of cold, hay fever and asthma.

Wings For Sally

by BAILEY WOLF

SYNOPSIS: Sally Warren, attractive, thoughtful society editor of the Warrenton Courier, becomes secretly engaged to Terry Maynard, boyish blond student who has been named a South American job. While Sally works her pretty, headstrong younger sister, Tip, is thrown with Terry. Handsome, dark Philip Page returns to his boyhood home and buys the Courier as a strike starts in the Morris mill. He backs the workmen. Sally and Terry plan a picnic to which Tip invites Philip.

Chapter 14

Picnic At Clinton's Mill

OUTWARDLY it was a gay party that left for Clinton's Mill in Terry's old car that sultry Sunday afternoon. Clinton's Mill had been a favorite picnicking spot before Crystal Lake was developed, further up the river. Now the place was almost deserted. The mill itself had not been used for years, and had fallen into picturesque decay. The mill pond was still deep enough for swimming, and an old bath house, built in more prosperous days, was still useful.

"Beat you in!" Sally cried, as they piled out of the car and raced for the bath house.

Tip was first in the water, after all, because Sally's fair hair was thick and long, and had to be crowded into a cap. Terry was next, looking amazingly tall and broad in a bathing suit.

Tip and Terry played at ducking each other, and dived from an old spring board. Sally forgot all of them in the pure joy of being in the water. She began to swim lazily toward the dam. She did not notice Philip Page till he was abreast of her.

"This is great," called Philip. "I've shed years since I jumped into this old mud hole."

He did look younger, Sally thought. He was well built and surprisingly athletic for one who appeared so tall and slender.

They swam with long, untiring strokes. At the dam, they climbed out and lay on the bank, resting in the sun.

"Young Terry Maynard will hate me," said Philip. "For taking you so far away."

"He won't miss me," laughed Sally. "He likes to play with Tip in the water."

"I don't like that. He should be jealous of you."

"That silly. We've always played around together—Tip, Terry and I. He's been especially nice to Tip lately because I've asked him. She needs looking after."

"Isn't that a little dangerous? He doesn't seem exactly cut out for a nursemaid."

The idea made them both laugh.

Tip Offers A Toast

A CLAP of thunder startled them. They had not noticed the dark clouds behind the mill. Now the sun vanished suddenly, and a wind sprang up and whipped the willows into fury.

"Tip's frightened of storms," said Sally. "I'd better get her under cover."

"Better look after yourself for once," said Philip. "She's nearer the bath house."

Terry and Tip were waving to them and running for the bath house. Philip and Sally were a good distance from the bath house, but a short swim would take them to the mill. A jagged streak of lightning split the clouds.

"Let's try for the mill," said Philip. "It's our best bet."

The water was calm, but the rain broke quickly. Just as they got to the mill, a clap of thunder sounded close to them, and lightning struck a large tree on the bank.

"Not so good—but I like the rain," shouted Sally, breathlessly, as she clambered over some broken timbers to the bath house.

Inside the mill was dry and dusty, haunted by the smell of rain and dust. Leaned against a post and Philip shook the rain from his curly hair.

Suddenly a brilliant flash lit the whole interior of the mill, and a thunder-clap made the timbers rattle.

Sally jumped nervously. "That struck close."

"Sit down here," Philip urged, taking her hand and pulling her toward some steps. "Astrid!" he yelled.

"No," answered Sally, "but I don't like storms."

The lightning struck again, and seemed to hit the mill itself. The whole structure trembled. Philip lunged an arm about Sally.

"Are you hurt, Sally?"

"I'm almost got to that time," said Sally faintly.

"It's over now, I think," said Philip. "Lean against me for a moment."

The storm died away as rapidly as it had come, retreating with distant mutters and rumbles.

Sally drew away from Philip and stood. She was very conscious of having touched him, and vaguely disturbed.

"The sun's coming out already," she said. "We'd better go and get dressed."

"Yes," said Philip slowly, "we'd better go." But he did not move for several moments.

Terry and Tip met them half way down the road. They were dressed and had the picnic basket. Tip hailed them mockingly.

"Everybody's gone but us! Hurry and dress and let's have supper here on the mill porch." She went up to Philip. "As for you, you've behaved shamefully to me. I invite you to a picnic and you spend all your time with Sally."

"I can see how you've suffered," retorted Philip. "Punish me any way you like—but don't deprive me of food."

"Then hurry up," said Tip. "We're starved."

"We'll set out the eats," said Terry, "but we don't promise to save anything."

When Sally returned, looking cool and fresh in white linen, Tip was pouring lemonade for Terry and Philip and flirting with both of them. She had on slacks and mariner's sweater, and doted about with feverish gaiety.

Terry was strangely silent, and awkward at handling things. Philip did his best to match Tip's mood.

Suddenly Tip lifted her cup of favorite picnicking spot before Crystal Lake was developed, further up the river. Now the place was almost deserted. The mill itself had not been used for years, and had fallen into picturesque decay. The mill pond was still deep enough for swimming, and an old bath house, built in more prosperous days, was still useful.

"I've got a toast," she cried, looking at Sally with bright eyes and flushed cheeks. "Here's to Sally and Terry—their engagement!"

Philip lifted his cup and drank with her. Sally turned a bewildered look on Terry, who had grown red and embarrassed, and then on Tip, who stared back at her defiantly.

"Here's to their South American flight!" cried Tip. She drank the lemonade and crushed the cup. "Don't look so solemn and stupid, you two. Everybody's guessed your secret. Everybody's happy!" She laughed.

"Stop it," said Terry suddenly. "Stop it, will you?"

A Week To Decide

IT WAS an awkward moment for all of them. Terry's command had stopped Tip from laughing, but it had also put a constraint on the whole group. Sally came to the rescue.

"Let's not talk about Terry and me any more," she said quietly. "It's pretty dull for the rest of you."

"I know," suggested Tip, "let's take a walk, Philip, and leave them alone. That's what you're supposed to do for engaged couples, isn't it?"

"Right," said Philip, standing up. They went off down the road, leaving Terry and Sally sitting alone together on the mill porch. Neither spoke for a moment, then Terry tried awkwardly to explain how he had come to tell Tip of their engagement.

"I couldn't keep from telling her, Sally. It—it was the right thing to do. She had me in a corner."

"It's all right," said Sally. "Tip's very clever at finding out secrets. I—I let someone know our secret, too."

"You did?" Terry's face brightened. "Yes, the night at Mary's dance Philip Page told me I was engaged to you. I wouldn't tell him a lie, somehow. And it didn't seem to matter if he knew."

"Gosh—I'm glad," said Terry. "That makes us even."

Sally busied herself with gathering up the supper things and repacking the basket, while Terry sat and smoked. Sally wondered how long Tip would be gone with Philip Page, and what they were saying to each other. It was growing dark, and she could no longer see Terry's face clearly. She wondered what he was thinking, and why they seemed to have nothing to say to each other.

Abruptly Terry threw away his cigarette and stood up.

"Sally," he said, in a strained voice, "if you really love me, let's get married right away—tomorrow. Chuck your job and we'll leave town. I can find something to keep us going till the other job ripens."

"But—why?" Sally was bewildered. "It seems so foolish for me to give up a good job before I have to—"

"It's not so foolish—if you love me," said Terry.

"Don't put it that way," begged Sally. "I'm a slow sort of person. You mustn't spring these sudden impulses on me and expect me to answer with the next breath."

"There wouldn't be any thinking to do if you loved me enough," said Terry moodily. "I've got to know, Sally—how much you love me."

Sally started to speak, to assure him passionately that she was everything to her—more important than her job and her family. But honesty checked her. It came to a choice between Terry and her responsibilities. Could she shrink even for Terry? Sally shivered.

"I'm cold and unfeeling," she told herself. "Perhaps I don't know how to love Terry as much as he loves me."

"Terry," she said. "Terry, darling. Isn't it enough if I tell you that you're the most exciting thing that ever came to me? I'm selfish. I want to stay and solve my problems, because they'll haunt me if I don't. And yet, I want to go away with you. I'll never have another pair of wings."

Terry put his hands on her shoulders. "That's no answer, Sally. Sally—what are we going to do?"

She stood there quietly for a moment before she spoke. "Will you give me a week to decide?"

"Yes," Terry drew a breath of relief. "A week's a long time, but it's a promise."

"It's a promise," said Sally. There was no time to say more. Tip and Philip were coming down the road.

Christmas Seal Cachets Coming From Santa Claus

Protect Your Home from Tuberculosis BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS

On Thanksgiving Day from Santa Claus, Indiana, several thousand Christmas Seal cachets will be mailed to interested collectors and usher in the 30th nation-wide Christmas Seal sale.

This busy little town in the southeast corner of Indiana has long been famous at this season of the year when countless children send their Christmas letters to the patron saint. It was selected as the town from which to mail the cachet because the 1936 Christmas Seal depicts the jolly face of old St. Nick in festive green and red colors. The cachet on the envelope is a reproduction of the Christmas Seal and enclosed is a greeting card carrying the message "Christmas Seal the doom of Tuberculosis."

Postmarked and mailed on Thanksgiving Day, the opening day of the Christmas Seal sale, this cachet will be a prized souvenir for some 100 citizens in Ulster county, said Judge Joseph M. Fowler, Chairman of Ulster County Tuberculosis Association. "One of these cachets will be on display with a display of old seals at Safford and Scudder, Wall street, Kingston, N. Y." "Our own Christmas Seal Sale," continued Mr. Fowler, "will be ushered in on Thanksgiving Day with the cooperation of the never-failing citizens of Ulster county, who each year buy Christmas Seals, and the local organizations, buying Health Bonds on Christmas Seals—to support the committee in the tuberculosis prevention work so important in every community of Ulster county."

Bridges With Houses an Odd London Attraction

Most people believe that when old London bridge was demolished more than a century ago Great Britain lost its last cross-river bridge with houses atop of it.

However, there stands in England two such bridges, according to a London correspondent in the Detroit News. One built in the Twelfth century and spanning the River Witham at Lincoln, the other at Bath and crossing the River Avon. It was built in 1770.

This bridge of Bath is named Pulteney after the earl who built it, and it is crossed by thousands of people who do not realize they are even crossing a bridge.

The bridge was designed by Robert Adam for Earl Pulteney, who wished to connect his estate at Bathwick with the city. A weir crosses the River Avon a few yards in front of the bridge, and this, with the colonnade on the left, and the great willow trees near the ruins of the old mill, presents a picture which has been painted many scores of times.

The Lincoln bridge, also known as the High bridge, has on its west side fine examples of half timbered houses that were built about the year 1540. On its east is an obelisk marking the site of a wayside chapel of St. Thomas of Canterbury, built in the Thirteenth century and demolished in 1763. Old London bridge also had a chapel to St. Thomas of Canterbury built in the center of it.

Baseball From Old Time

Sport Known as Townball Baseball undoubtedly originated in the United States. The game was an evolution from an older game called townball that also developed in the United States from the old English game of rounders.

Townball was played on a square field at the corners of which were four - foot posts which served as bases. In scoring one run, the player ran around these posts, and if hit by a thrown ball while running, he was "out." The side first securing 100 runs was the winner.

In 1838, with others, according to the Literary Digest, the twenty-year-old Abner Doubleday, who later served as major-general of volunteers in the Civil war in command of the defenses of Washington, drew up the first set of baseball rules. But it was not until 1845 that the Knickerbocker Baseball Club of New York, the first organized club, modified the game by substituting bags for bases, limiting the number of players to nine on a side, and setting the game at nine innings.

Important With Our Lives Most of us are inclined to get impatient over the chapters of our life that do not please us. We want to hurry on to the next, forgetting that to live the "now" greatly is the only way to live ourselves for what may be coming.

A Washington Daybook

By FREDSON GEVER
 WASHINGTON — Secretary Wallace wasn't knocked back on his haunches when the farm leaders meeting here sort of thumbs-downed his crop insurance plan.

He came right back at them with a speech before land grant college officials in Houston, Tex. "It does seem probable to me," he said, "that crop insurance is likely to fall within the range of permanently constructive measures."

Right quickly he added, however, that "it cannot and is not expected to serve as a substitute for other programs."

Seek Return Of AAA FARM leaders meeting here wanted AAA and its latter benefits to replace the present soil conservation benefit plan. Those from the midwest and south had a special reason for preferring AAA, which was expressed by Secretary Wallace in one of his books. There he said: "Producers of wheat, corn, cotton and tobacco will not receive quite as much money for their work under the new (soil conservation) program as they did under the old. Producers in the east and far west will receive somewhat more."

Wallace says frankly that crop insurance alone might be disastrous if two or three successive fat crop years resulting in piling up a large surplus of crops paid by farmers "in kind" as premiums. He insists crop control measures must go along with insurance.

Just how and in what form the premiums will be collected is not settled upon. Eastern farming involves less risk than much western farming. Because of this, AAA officials doubt whether a blanket rate based on average loss experience over the nation would work. Easterners, with low risk farms, would not come in. Westerners would rush in, and throw the plan out of balance.

Inside you learn Wallace at present leans toward a premium based on less experience on each farm.

How It Works TO A layman the whole insurance plan appears utterly complex, and perhaps likely to involve much field work, either on the part of co-operating farmers or department agents.

For instance, say a rather hazardous crop area in the Dakotas is to be blanketed under one general rate, subject to modification to fit the loss experienced on each farm. Each farm must be classified, not only as to the type of farm land but as to the type of farmer. Then a rate must be fixed for that farm. That involves much machinery, and dicker with farmers about premiums.

By paying farmers for crop losses in lean years with part of the surplus collected as premiums in fat years, Wallace expects, with the aid of crop control agencies, to smooth out the surplus-shorage cycle that at times makes farming a gamble.

Incidentally, he estimates premiums will be arranged to prevent inept farmers slipping in on a marginal tract and collecting insurance benefits for crops they fail to grow.

TALKS TO PARENTS

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

There are numerous homes and institutions for the deaf, the blind, the crippled, the dumb, the feeble-minded and the orphaned. These extreme cases are easily recognized and cared for.

But the world is full of the partially deaf, the half blind, people with impediments in their speech, high-grade morons and children inadequately tended, for whom nothing is done and whose deficiencies are often not recognized.

It was only when he failed to make Junior high school that Tommy was found to be partially deaf. Susy lived in a dim world of shadows until she was in her teens. Then she went to the oculist of her own volition and found that she had only quarter vision. Alice Brown was always late for school because she was so slow. She looked half blind. She had a home and a mother, but it took the visiting nurse to find out that her mother was the sole support of the family and a very inadequate support at that.

It is hard to spot these halfway cases, but they are far more frequent than the extremes. Only constant vigilance on the part of parents, teachers, health boards and visiting officials can save a vast amount of human material from being warped or wasted on account of childhood neglect.

If a child is backward in his work, unadjusted socially, nervous or in any other way abnormal, he should be taken at once to a competent physician or to the nearest good clinic. It is useless to argue that he will outgrow his peculiarities. He may or he may not, but he should have the benefit of all that medicine and psychology can do for him as soon as possible.

Visiting nurses and teachers can often help parents in such cases. They see the child in school as well as at home, and from this dual vantage point can give valuable advice and suggestions.

The guests were Natalie Simpson, Florence Ransom, Mavis Schoonmaker, Joan Countryman, Mary Countryman, Jean Parry, Dorothy Jacobs, Francis Steen, Neta Abrahamson, Shirley Ayres, Bernice Winchell, Jane Briggs, Ruth Williams and Shirley Coddington. The afternoon was spent in playing games and a delicious birthday supper was served and enjoyed by all. Patsy was the recipient of many nice gifts. The guests departed wishing their schoolmate many happy returns of her birthday.

It is hoped a large number will feel it most fitting to assemble at the Dutch Reformed Church on Thanksgiving at 10 a. m. and render thanks to their heavenly Father. The service will be a union one of Methodist and Reformed Churches. Meditation will be given by both pastors, the Rev. Harold Hoffman and the Rev. Roscoe S. Strivings. The public is cordially invited. The collection will be given to the children's Industrial Home at Kingston.

Miss Zelia Sahler was on overnight guest on Friday of Miss Marjorie Larsen.

Mrs. Clarence Pine attended the Thanksgiving program given at the Rosendale school on Friday afternoon where her daughter, Miss Frances Pine is a teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. DeForest Bishop and Mr. and Mrs. Irving Cornish motored to Middletown on Sunday where they visited Mr. Bishop's sister-in-law, Mrs. Irene Bishop.

Virgil Wagar Sr., who has been employed at Haverstraw during the summer is now assisting his brother, Garion Wagar, installing oil burners.

The first in a series of Study Club sessions sponsored by Kingston Council, No. 275, Knights of Columbus, will be held in the K. of C. Home this evening at 8 o'clock. The Study Club will be in charge of the council chaplain, the Rev. Benjamin C. Roth, of St. Mary's Church, and Chairman John P. Cullen, who also acted as chairman last season. The Study Club movement has been advocated by the State Council, Knights of Columbus, and has been enthusiastically endorsed by both clergy and laity as being worthy of serious consideration. Grand Knight Gilday of the local council wishes to invite all members of Kingston Council to be present. All men of the city, regardless of religious belief, are extended a cordial invitation to be present at this evening's session.

Spain needs a good national Chamber of Commerce, a string of Rotary and Kiwanis clubs and an Elks lodge in every town.

Report on Grouse To Be Made Soon

Gardiner Bump, superintendent of the State Bureau of Game, has written President Nelson Snyder of the Ulster County Fish and Protective Association, thanking him for the publicity that had been given the request that the viscera of grouse killed in Ulster county be sent to the State Conservation Department. Over 200 viscera of grouse were sent in to the department from this county in response to the request. As a result the laboratory has not been able to make reports as quickly as expected but as soon as the reports are completed the department will forward a report on all of the birds submitted. The viscera of grouse killed in the state this season are being examined to determine if possible why in certain years there is a scarcity of the game birds.

Britons never will be slaves, and Americans never will be regimented. At the same time, it's a shame the way free-souled men are bossed around by their wives.

TIPS ON CONTRACT

Gulls in Mexico
A ruse dating from auction days is for the possessor of a solid suit under the guns of a no-trump bid to overcall with a suit of which he is rather short. The idea is that the partner of the no-trumper will raise the no-trump. Then the overcaller will double and plunk down the solid suit for a quick set.

From the American colony in Mexico City comes a variation. The overcaller has a two suiter and bids the weaker suit. Jack Mc Knight writes.

"A hand came up in a friendly bridge session here that seemed to have a point of interest. It concerns a trap bid for penalties against an opposing no trump and I don't remember ever having seen the situation set forth. 'Here are the hands.

"East liked his no-trump bids not wisely but too well. With neither side vulnerable, he bid one on his collection. "South, thinking it likely the contract would wind up at no-trump if East-West had no warning of his strong club suit, made the trap bid of two diamonds on the four-card suit, hoping West, with a diamond stopper and an outside half-trick, would raise the no-trump call. "That happened, and East, who as I said was inclined to try for no-trump games with light holdings, promptly jumped to three. South doubled and West left it there. "There was, of course, nothing to the hand. South led the fourth best club, ran that suit, perforce led away from the diamonds and in the end got the heart king and the diamond ace for a total of seven tricks and a three-trick set, or 500. East finessed the spade correctly to save another trick he might have lost, entering the dummy with the diamonds. "The objection, of course, is that East-West went too high in no-trump, but South's trap bid encouraged them to do so."

Flaming in old buildings may present very serious health hazards. It should be inspected frequently and modernized when found defective.

Better Than Gold
 A stronger man is he for all defeats and failures he sustained, and if he has heeded duty's call and from life hardships something gained in lessons dear, that makes him hold to challenge circumstances and strive.
 By helpful deeds, worth more than gold, that men around him may survive.
 Far better that he vainly tried to gain that lofty, distant goal, Than to have feebly lived and died a leisure-loving, faithless soul, For what is life if not a strife, a grand campaign for greater things.
 And, though adversities are rife, the prize is worth the toll of kings.

Lady (over telephone)—Hello—Is this the Game Warden?
 Man—Yes'm.
 Lady—Do you know any suitable games for a young man four years old?

You may be unknown, you may never reach distinction. Still you can wipe your feet and shut the door.

Mr. Hardrun—I wonder why it is we can't save anything?
 Mrs. Hardrun—Isn't our fault, honey. It's the neighbors. They're always getting something new we can't afford.

The only way the meek will get the earth or anything else is to inherit it.

Marie—I think a girl who whistles is most un lady-like.
 Maudie—Well, I don't know, whistling brought about my engagement.

Marie—How was that?
 Maudie—I puckered my lips to whistles, and George couldn't resist kissing them, and so, of course—

No wonder some women treat their husbands like dogs, because they are growling about something all of the time.

Father—Is there anything worse than being old and bent?
 His Son—Yes, to be young and broke.

A local man admits that he can't help but admire mother love after looking at his picture, taken at the age of 11 years.

Wife—If my husband tries to kiss you, I want you to scream, understand?
 New Maid—Have a heart, lady! That's what your last maid did, and you fired her.

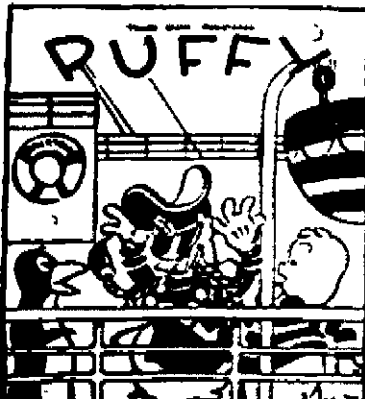

Parent—From my observation of him last night I should say that that young man of yours was rather wild.
 Daughter—Of course. It was your watching him that made him wild. He wanted you to go up stairs and leave us alone.

Man—I sleep like a log.
 Wife—Yes, with a saw going through it.

It is better for a man to inherit sense than dollars. . . One hazardous calling is calling a man a liar. . . If you are contented with your lot, you are very old or very worthless. . . Some fellows always grab a stool when a piano is to be moved. . . Time killed stays dead. . . The latest styles look as if they came too early. . . A full coat bin maketh a glad heart. . . All play and no work makes no "jack". . . Some people are only popular with the police. . . If life is a game of chance, why not play it on the square? . . . Setbacks only stiffen a backbone that is made of the right stuff. . . The best substitute for brains is silence. . . Ignorance of the law is no excuse unless she happens to be beautiful. . . Divorces keep people in circulation. . . A failure is a man who has blundered, but is not able to cash in the experience. . . The rising generation isn't always the first up in the morning. . . Fools rush in where angels fear to trade.

Madge—Charlie proposed twice before I accepted him.
 Marjorie—Didn't you hear him the first time?

Friends are a habit—Some a luxury.

"Let's start from the first," says the captain. "You know each year, you ducks, when the winter winds blow, 'Go South for a while so they'll miss all the cold.'
 "We've many such ducks—both the young ones and old."

P-T-A. Card Party Dec. 10.
 Highland, Nov. 24—The date of the card party for the P-T-A. has been changed to a day later, Thursday, December 10. This was made necessary by other events on the evening of the 24th. The party will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Wilkow.

Brief Highlights.
 Highland, Nov. 24—Members of Sunshine Lodge, I. O. O. F., No. 929, with their candidates attended the meeting of Lodge No. 21, in Poughkeepsie Tuesday evening, when the three candidates were given the second degree.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Elting have purchased a new Dodge coupe, Henry Elting a Dodge car, and J. J. Donora a new Plymouth car from the Root agency in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver J. Tillson attended the exhibits of the Hudson Valley Stamp Club and the banquet held at the Governor Clinton Hotel in Kingston on Saturday evening.

Mr. Tillson is treasurer of the local club which had an exhibit there.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Seaman and family of Brewster were at Mr. Seaman's mother's on Sunday. Mr. Seaman was a lucky hunter during the week and brought home a deer.

A truck from St. Petersburg, Fla., loaded the household goods of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hamilton and have started on the return trip. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton will leave for their new home in a few days.

Saturday afternoon was delightfully spent by members of the U. D. Society with Mrs. William Waterbury. Miss Belle Brinkerhoff, as secretary, took notes at a table at which George Washington once sat. Reports were given of the sunshine cards sent out and plans for a Thanksgiving basket to be sent were made. Election of officers will be held at the next meeting at the home of Mrs. Oliver J. Tillson. Attending the meeting were Miss Bertha Wisemiller, president, Mrs. Martha C. Schantz, Mrs. S. D. Farnham, the Misses Belle Brinkerhoff, Laura Harcourt, Eliza Raymond, Mrs. Abram Rhodes, Mr. Charles Champin, Mrs. Joseph Preston, Mrs. Dora Wilkow, Mrs. Fred Lewis Vail, Mrs. Howard Wilcox, Mrs. M. E. Maynard, Mrs. D. H. Starr, Mrs. Philip Wilkow, Mrs. J. W. Feeter of Kingston, Mrs. Waterbury and her sister, Mrs. Ethel Graham, as a guest.

Miss Harriet Bruyn of New York spent the weekend with her aunt, Miss Frances Bruyn, and on Sunday Harvey Traver, Miss Bruyn and Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Starr drove Miss Harriet Bruyn into New Jersey on her way home.

Mrs. John Meyers and son of Tannersville, Mr. and Mrs. George Rose and friend of Kingston, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Gedney.

Mrs. LeGrand Haviland, Jr. and baby daughter have returned from the Kingston Hospital and are at home on Tillson avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip T. Schantz were Saturday night guests of Philip Mylod and Miss Esther Brown at the Amrita Club in Poughkeepsie, and Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Ray Everett in Kingston. Their daughter, Miss Jean Schantz, was included in the latter group.

Attending the Mid-Hudson rally in the Baptist Church in Poughkeepsie Sunday evening were: Richard Haynes, Robert Coutant, Rodolf Dubois, Barbara Lent, Shirley Hubbard, Ruth Haynes, Nancy Dean, Doris Couth, Richard Corwin. The group consisted of members of the Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian Church and were taken over by Mrs. Alfred Coutant and Clarence W. Rathgeb. The speaker, Dr. S.

New Deal Revived By Supreme Court Verdict on Monday

Washington, Nov. 24 (AP)—The Supreme Court's action in letting New York state's unemployment insurance law stay on the statute books raised hopes among New Dealers today that a new alignment has taken place within the high tribunal.

Some believed that administration acts may obtain more favorable treatment from the court than in the past, though all agreed that one case was too flimsy a foundation on which to build expectations.

The court split 4 to 4 yesterday on the state law, which was enacted under the federal Social Security Law. In accordance with long precedent, the tie vote meant that the decision of a lower court, which upheld the act, was allowed to stand.

A ninth member of the court, Justice Stone, did not participate because he has been ill with dysentery. Inasmuch as he has usually sided with the so-called "liberal" wing of the bench, observers here generally guessed that if he had taken part in the decision, he would have made it 5 to 4 in favor of the law.

There was no announcement as to just how the eight other justices voted, but in many circles the lineup was believed to have been: For the law, Chief Justice Hughes, Justices Brandeis, Cardozo and Roberts; against, Justices Van Devanter, Mc Reynolds, Sutherland and Butler.

The decision was a contrast to some of the past, when the lineup frequently was 6 to 3 or 5 to 4 against New Deal and other similar legislation. Justices who most frequently dissented from these decisions were Brandeis, Cardozo, and Stone, with Hughes sometimes joining with them.

HEADS STATE ASSOCIATION OF PHYSICAL EDUCATORS

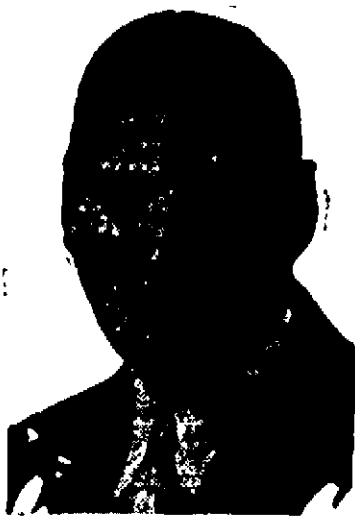

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 24 (AP)—Frederick Woblers of Scarsdale became president of the New York State Health and Physical Education Association today.

He succeeds Ellis H. Champlin, chief of the physical education bureau, State Education Department.

Other officers elected at the annual meeting last night are: First vice president, Mrs. Carol Sheets, New York city; second vice president, Ray G. Glunz, Buffalo, and secretary-treasurer, Walter A. Cox, Albany.

Detroit presses turned to print nearly 1,000,000 "bed-sheet" ballots for the November election. The ballot, largest in Wayne county's history, measures 24½ by 31¼ inches.

Robert Zimmerman At St. James Church Thursday Evening

Robert M. Zimmerman

The third of a series of fall festival entertainments being given at St. James M. E. Church will bring Robert Zimmerman to Kingston Thursday evening of this week at 8:15 o'clock. Mr. Zimmerman is an interesting lecturer and during his engagement will have on display a case of interesting deep sea curios.

Magnificent coral gardens of the deep, deadly sharks and barracuda, long lost Spanish galleons and a score or more of little known and mysterious objects of the ocean's bed are vividly portrayed by Robert M. Zimmerman in his fascinating talk, "On the Bottom of the Ocean."

Mr. Zimmerman, university graduate, Olympic swimmer and deep sea diver, has had remarkable marine experience. He played an active part in the making of such underwater motion pictures as "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," "Mysterious Island" and several others of recent release. He is a very colorful personality, having won no less than 33 national championships in swimming, diving and canoeing and was a member of the 1908 and 1912 Canadian Olympic swimming teams and holds several world records. In 1914 he paddled a canoe from Montreal to Chicago and ten years later made a similar trip from New York to Louisville. It is said he is the only white man who has "shot" the rapids of the St. Lawrence from Kingston to Montreal in a canoe.

8 More Deaths Follow Week-End

(By The Associated Press)

Update New York today counted eight additional dead in automobile accidents on the heels of a week-end highway toll of 14.

Two other persons were fatally injured by railroad trains and one was electrocuted. Police and firemen grappled in the Middlebranch reservoir near Carmel for a body of a woman, one of the train victims.

She was tentatively identified as Mrs. Mose Bader, R. F. D. 1, Carmel, from papers scattered along the reservoir causeway. Police said her body was hurled into the reservoir when she was struck last night by a westbound train on the Putnam division of the New York Central.

A similar accident on a Mohawk river bridge between Cohoes and Waterford killed Leo Juebert, 26, of Waterford. A southbound train threw his body 25 feet.

Keith Haggerty, 18, was electrocuted near Carriers when he stepped on a live wire while inspecting a wrecked truck to determine if his brother were in the wreckage.

William Reynolds, 17, of Fishkill, was among the other victims. He was fatally injured when his motorcycle crashed into the rear end of a loaded lumber truck near Beacon.

The Literary Digest, admitting that its face is red, still can't imagine how it happened. Why not ask General Farley or Dr. Gallup?

WHO IS SWIFT & COMPANY?

[Over a period of years, Swift & Company's net profits from all sources have averaged only a fraction of a cent per pound.]

We could answer "It's a company which supplies meat, dairy and poultry products to the people of the United States wherever they may live." But that no more tells who Swift & Company is than to describe Admiral Byrd as "the man who wears the fur hat."

Swift & Company is owned by a laborer in Pennsylvania, a farmer in Iowa, a doctor in New York, a Middle Western banker, a rancher in Texas, a stenographer in Chicago and more than 55,000 other men and women from all walks of life who have invested their money in this concern.

Approximately 25,000 of these shareholders are women. Thousands of them live on farms, in tiny townships, and thousands more dwell in the great cities. Approximately 10,000 shareholders are Swift & Company employees. These plus approximately 45,000 other employees go to make up Swift & Company. At least 2,400 shareholders would be required to vote a majority of the stock outstanding.

This concern is well organized, stable and progressive.

The business of distributing meat, dairy and poultry products to all corners of the country is a necessary part of the nation's well-being.

For information on the service rendered by the meat packing industry, read "Swift's Service to Producer and Consumer." This instructive booklet will be mailed you free, upon request. Address

Legion Auxiliary Met on Friday

The American Legion Auxiliary met at the Memorial Building Friday evening, November 20, at 8 o'clock, with 20 regular and six new members in attendance. Colors were advanced by Junior members, Eleanor Waterman and Jean Hudler, and the salute to the flag was given. After singing the National Anthem and the recitation of the preamble to the constitution, the meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Harry Whitney.

Reports from the various committee chairmen were given. Mrs. Christopher Roche announcing a net profit of $88.63 from refreshments at the Victory Ball. Mrs. Roy Jacob reported $8 paid-up members to date. Welfare Chairman Mrs. Jane McManus reported a total expenditure of $17.19 during the month, including two orders for groceries amounting to $2.85, shoes and underwear. Christmas baskets will be sent to at least six deserving families.

Miss Margaret McManus, rehabilitation chairman, reported an expenditure of $6.

At this time the president introduced Mrs. Jane Johnson of the Social Service Exchange, who spoke briefly but concisely of the work of that office and its affiliation with the numerous welfare organizations of the city and the county. It was then voted to cooperate with the Social Service Exchange in clearing welfare cases through its office during the coming holiday season. The American Legion Auxiliary will also share in the work of the mayor's Christmas cheer committee, practically every member volunteering to serve.

It was voted to contribute a 10 cent per capita assessment based on last year's membership to non-compensated and friendly veterans at U. S. Government Hospital No. 93, at Castle Point.

A ladies' bridge club, composed of auxiliary members and non-members, plan to visit the Castle Point Hospital tomorrow afternoon. They will motor down, each one taking gifts, cigarettes, candy, and home-made cake, also small articles of usefulness as handkerchiefs, etc. The club is composed of Mrs. Jennie Hutton, Miss Florence Koltz, Mrs. Harvey Derby, Mrs. Charles Campbell, Mrs. Charles DeWitt, Mrs. Katherine Eberth, Mrs. Rufus Whitney, Mrs. Roy Jacob, Mrs. Harry Whitney.

An additional car with Mrs. Grace DeWitt, Mrs. Christopher Roche, Mrs. Harry D'Algie and Mrs. Charles Adams will also make the trip.

Mrs. Harvey Derby, although she is not a member of the auxiliary, has proved herself a friend to the American Legion by giving a card party at her home, 178 Elmendorf street, consisting of eight tables of bridge, realizing $15, which she contributed to the general fund. There was also an additional $3.50 realized from a handkerchief, embroidered and crocheted set of pillow cases donated by Mrs. Jennie Hutton.

A finance committee consisting of Mrs. Sam Peper, Mrs. Herman Dubois and Mrs. Harry D'Algie will pass on all bills presented as prescribed by department headquarters. New members received into the organization on Friday evening were Mrs. Ashton Hart, Mrs. Jack Kearns and Mrs. Tipton.

The next regular meeting of the county organization of the American Legion and Auxiliary will be Thursday evening, December 3, at Ellenville.

Good cheer committee reported sending flowers to two sick members, Mrs. Conrad J. Heiselman and Mrs. William McNamee.

MARBLETOWN SCHOOL

ATTENDANCE RECORD

Stone Ridge, Nov. 23.—The following pupils had perfect attendance for the month of October: Kenneth C. Cole, Victor H. Sachar, John M. Warren, Evelyn F. Krom.

The per cent of attendance was 95. Kenneth C. Cole was the chairman of the "Columbus Day Program" committee. His assistants were Martha Miller, Regina A. Krom and Miss Hess. A very interesting program was arranged.

School was closed October 22 and 23 on account of the state meetings held at Troy.

The Halloween party was enjoyed by all. Victor Sachar had charge of the decorations. He was assisted by the entire school. Many games were played. At the close of the happy afternoon, the teacher treated the pupils to Halloween cookies and candy. The ice cream was furnished by Miss Helen Koval and the teacher.

GUARANTEED RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Common constipation is usually due to meals low in "bulk." Pills and drugs give only temporary relief. The sensible thing to do is to get "bulk" back into your meals.

Millions of people get this needed "bulk" in a delicious cereal: Kellogg's All-Bran. Its "bulk" is in the bran that is left in the wheat. Within the body, it absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass, gently cleanses the system.

Some years ago, an investigation was made among thousands of All-Bran users. 98 per cent found it satisfactory. Only 2 per cent had the type of constipation that would not respond to All-Bran.

All-Bran is guaranteed. Try it a week. If not satisfactory, your money will be refunded by the Kellogg Company.

Just eat two tablespoons daily, either as cereal or in cooked dishes. All-Bran is sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

MENUS OF THE DAY

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE

An Oven Menu

Dinner Serving Four

Ham And Potatoes En Casserole
Escalloped Tomatoes
Brain Toss
Apricot Salad
Cherry Cookies
Coffee or Tea

Ham And Potatoes En Casserole
1 one pound ham 4 tablespoons flour
1 one pound potatoes 1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk 1/2 teaspoon celery salt
2 tablespoons butter 1/2 teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons chopped onion 1/2 teaspoon minced parsley

Place ham in shallow baking dish or pan. Mix potatoes with seasonings and flour and arrange on top of ham. Add butter and milk. Cover and bake 45 minutes in moderate oven. Uncover and bake 20 minutes to brown top.

Escalloped Tomatoes
2 cups tomatoes 1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup cracker crumbs 1/2 teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons butter 1/2 teaspoon celery salt
2 tablespoons butter, melted 1/2 teaspoon minced parsley
2 tablespoons chopped onion 1/2 teaspoon minced parsley

Mix ingredients and pour into buttered shallow baking dish. Bake 20 minutes in moderate oven. Serve in dish in which baked.

Cherry Cookies
(With Professional Touch)
1/2 cup butter 1 1/2 cups flour
1/2 cup sugar 1 teaspoon baking powder
1 egg 1/2 cup broken nuts
1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup chopped candied cherries
1 tablespoon grated orange rind 1/2 cup chopped candied cherries

Cream butter with sugar and eggs and rest of ingredients except cherries. Chill dough for several hours (over night is best). Break off 1/2 inch bits of dough, roll in balls and place 1/2 inches apart on greased baking sheet. Press down with fork dipped in milk, pressing so that the ridges made by fork will remain on top of the cookies. Top with bits of cherries, pressed down slightly. Bake 10 minutes in moderate oven.

The deepest hole in the world, later abandoned as dry, was drilled, in 1926, to 8,201 feet by the Chandler-Candfield-Midway Oil Co. in the Ollinda field in Orange County, Cal.

Home Institute TONGUE-TIED AT SOCIAL AFFAIRS?

Many people suffer from self-consciousness and are in torture whenever they meet a new acquaintance or attend some social affair.

The trouble is—the self-conscious person simply does not know how to start a conversation or is afraid of saying the wrong thing.

Easy Ways of Gaining Popularity
It is now so easy to memorize many useful phrases which may be the key to unlock the door to really brilliant conversation. "I was hoping I'd meet you here," is one form of acknowledging an introduction but there are also more than half a dozen others.

"Thank you for the dance," is a form of admitting a pleasure, but the same thought can be phrased in other words of equally good form.

In every instance there are ten or more various other ways the same thought can be gracefully expressed. All that most of us require is some little self-starting phrase for putting our thoughts over in a clever way.

Our new 40-page booklet, 1500 Useful Phrases, has many examples of phrases, words, sentences that will help you in your every-day business life and your social contacts.

DOES YOUR HUSBAND CALL YOU GROUCHY?

He's truthful if not tactful. Man like, he is bewildered by your offishness and irritability. He can't understand what you have to be blue about. He wishes that you'd snap out of it. He'd do anything he could to help you. If he knew how good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was, he'd go straight to the nearest drug store and buy you a bottle.

"My husband says I am my old self again," says Mrs. Barbara Spears, 799 Elms Street, Akron, Ohio. "I was tired and all in with no appetite. Had no pep and was in poor spirits. Your Vegetable Compound eliminated this awful tired feeling."

Don't try your husband's patience too far. Get a bottle from your druggist NOW. It probably will help you, because nearly a million American women know from personal experience that it helps them.

SCHWENK'S Fine Bread
GET A LOAF TODAY AT YOUR GROCERS

WHEN you eat Bread, you are eating a food that is nearly 100% digestible and nearly 100% assimilated. Scientific research proves that there is almost no waste in Bread. It is all edible; practically all utilizable for nourishment.

Famous scientists and nutrition experts recently completed a series of laboratory tests to find out the true facts about Bread. The fact that Bread is nearly 100% digestible was established beyond a doubt in these experiments. In this respect it ranks with milk. Also both bread and milk come close to being complete foods.

If you have been wondering about the digestibility of Bread, science now gives you the correct answer — "Bread is nearly 100% digestible!"

Mother's Club Met At Stone Ridge

Stone Ridge, Nov. 23.—The Mother's Club of District No. 5 and others interested in the school, numbering about 35, met at the school house on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The committee in charge to whom appreciation was extended for having gotten out so large a number of people and for having such talented people as Miss Rich, the speaker, and Mrs. Hoffman, the soloist, was composed of Mrs. Percy Clark, Miss Alberta Davis and Mrs. Jesse Barnhardt.

Miss Mildred Roosa, principal of the school, welcomed the people and praised the Mother's Club for having purchased a number of much needed articles for the school, such as dictionaries, molding clay, etc. At the previous meeting they had attached coat hangers to bags making it possible for each pupil to put their coat on a hanger and their cap and gloves in the bag, thus putting an end to the usual scramble for lost caps and mittens. The hangers will be hung on a rack which in cold weather is placed by the heater.

Miss Roosa also expressed appreciation to the trustees for having the side walls in both rooms re-surfaced and purchasing a new desk for her room.

The program was opened by a solo, "Teach Me to Pray," very effectively rendered by Mrs. Harold Hoffman, accompanied by Miss Alberta Davis at the piano.

Miss Roosa said it was a great pleasure for her to introduce the guest speaker, Miss Mary Ellen Rich, who is associate head of the rural educational department of New Paltz Normal, as having been one of Miss Rich's pupils she knew how interesting and effective she made her talks.

Miss Rich said she had become so interested in modern education that it gave her great joy to have an opportunity to present it to as many as possible.

She explained that in the past education meant preparation for life but modern education is life and a constantly unfolding process of which self expression is the best guide.

The child beginning school had been considered as a bundle of sin and must constantly be told not to do things, whereas now they learn to keep their place but have freedom to act natural. The modern method of teaching follows the inner urge of the child. The knowledge is gained by research and work done by the pupil while the former method of learning might be termed a cold storage process where the pupil laid up things for future use. The teachers should be sympathetic and observers of the child.

The principles of modern education are health, learning comes from doing, a schoolroom free of unnatural restraints, adapt education to meet the differences of all children and fit the program to meet the individual needs of pupils, put emphasis on child development rather than on subject matter and make the lessons more informal with interest centered round one topic.

Miss Rich told of the results obtained from taking the pupils to visit farms, a lime kiln and for a trip on the train. She had on exhibition a large variety of books and explained the value of having several readers to cover the work of each grade. The note books made and kept by the pupils were most interesting as were the cow and other animals they had made.

Mrs. Rich's entire talk was deeply interesting and greatly appreciated by all present. She convinced her audience that modern education makes school days a joy so that each day is looked forward to with pleasure rather than dread even by pupils who may never be able to master certain subjects as each pupil is trained to do the things for which he is talented.

The program closed with a vocal number by Mrs. Hoffman, "Smilin' Through," which was greatly applauded.

A social hour followed and the girls who graduated in June, 1936 and are now attending Kingston High School served refreshments of tea and a large variety of appetizing cookies.

Dishes Men Prefer And Enjoy Eating

The way to a man's heart is a serious business. It means much more than merely feeding him—it means serving food with flavor, food that satisfies, food he really enjoys eating.

Recently a jury of men were given a chance to name their favorites. A wide variety of dishes were prepared. The men tried them all and voted. Among those rated highest were the following (note that they're all made with bread, popular with men anyhow).

The fact that these dishes cost so little for their goodness is an extra point sure to please the bread-winner, too.

BROWNED CORNED BEEF HASH WITH POACHED EGGS
2 cups diced cooked corned beef
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 tablespoon minced onion
1/4 cup water
6 poached eggs
Combine ingredients. Form into six patties and brown on both sides in hot buttered frying pan. Top with poached eggs and serve.

ONION SOUP AU GRATIN
6 medium sized onions
3 tablespoons butter
1 quart soup stock
3 slices bread, 1/2 inch thick
1 cup grated cheese

Peel and slice onions. Brown in butter; add soup stock, and bring to a boil. Transfer to large casserole. Cut bread slices into six small rounds and toast lightly. Float on top of soup and sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake in hot oven, 500 degrees F., 10 minutes, or until cheese melts.

*or 5 bouillon cubes dissolved in 1 quart boiling water.

BAKED ENGLISH STEW WITH DUMPLINGS

4 lamb kidneys
1 pound shoulder of veal, cut for stew
2 tablespoons fat
6 white onions, peeled
1 cup diced celery
1 cup diced carrots or turneps
1 cup boiling water
1 tablespoon chili sauce
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Savory bread dumplings*

Split the kidneys and remove skin. Dust kidneys and veal with flour, salt and pepper, brown in hot fat. Transfer to casserole and add remaining ingredients. Cover and bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F., until meat is tender—about 1 1/2 hours. Add savory dumplings, cover and steam for 15 minutes.

*SAVORY BREAD DUMPLINGS

2 cups soft bread crumbs
1 teaspoon minced parsley
1 small onion, grated
1/4 teaspoon sweet marjoram
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon baking powder
1 egg, well beaten

Mix ingredients in order given. Drop by teaspoonfuls on to hot stew, cover and steam for 15 minutes.

APPLE SURPRISE PUDDING

2 cups apple sauce
1/2 cup raisins
2 tablespoons butter
1 1/4 cups dry bread crumbs
1 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup nutmeg, chopped
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Combine apple sauce and raisins. Place in buttered baking dish. Melt butter in skillet, and crumbs and blend thoroughly. Add sugar, nuts, and cinnamon. Mix well and spread over apple sauce. Bake in moderate oven, 375 degrees F., 20 minutes. Serve warm with cream.

Here and There in Town

New Paltz, Nov. 24.—Mrs. Jerome DePuy is ill at her home in town.

The Tuesday afternoon Contract Club held a dinner at the Nelson House in Poughkeepsie Tuesday evening of this week.

Lester Crans was also one of the lucky ones in this vicinity to get a deer.

James M. Deaneley has been enjoying a two-weeks' hunting trip in the Adirondacks.

Mrs. Howard B. Hoffmann spent the week-end in Ithaca with her son, Josef.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis LeFevre have returned from a trip to Washington, D. C., Baltimore and Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. John Yeaple visited their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Nichols, at Shinerock Lake last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dorey of Eltinge avenue entertained Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Sherman and sons of New York city recently.

Albert H. Schoonmaker, George Milham and Louis P. Marlen visited Kingston last Wednesday and enjoyed the turkey dinner at the First Dutch Reformed Church.

George Knickerbocker is in the Kingston Hospital.

Mrs. G. Clausen was a guest of Mrs. Daniel DeGraff at Plutarch on Friday evening.

The Highland Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, will hold a bingo and card party in their rooms Tuesday evening, November 24. New Paltz members and friends will attend.

Fifty members of the New Paltz Study Club attended the meeting held in the cafeteria of the Normal School at their last meeting. They were received by Mrs. Benjamin H. Matteson and Mrs. Andrew L. F. Deyo.

During the business session regional planning was presented by Mrs. Virgil DeWitt, after which the group assembled in the optical room where Miss Esther Bensley described her trip to India. After Miss Bensley's talk, which was greatly enjoyed, ice cream and cookies were served by the hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Raab and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Ayers were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Ploutz at East Meredith on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Cummings were host and hostess at the Huguenot Grange meeting on Saturday night and the Dramatic Committee had charge of the program.

A community Thanksgiving Day service will be held in the Methodist Episcopal Church Thursday morning at nine o'clock. The Rev. Philip Solbjor, pastor of the Modena Methodist Church, will be the speaker.

Among those of this vicinity shooting a deer this season are: Fred Michael, Frank Elliott, Dr. Fleming, Walter Berry, Charles Pole, Abram Paradise, Hunter Carpenter, Jesse Halnes, John Moran, Jr., and Charles Freer.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hasbrouck and daughter, Mary Jane, visited Mr. and Mrs. William P. Ferris at Bangall on Friday evening.

Mrs. John Ashton and daughter

URGENT ENFORCEMENT IS ARRESTED HIMSELF

Olean, N. Y., Nov. 24 (AP)—G. B. Meade, former president of the Olean Junior Chamber of Commerce, was a leader in persuading the city council to enforce the laws against overtime parking.

The city hired two special policemen. One of them tagged Meade's car yesterday and he paid a $1.00 fine as a parking offender.

How to Relieve Piles or Rectal Soreness

If you are annoyed with piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from your druggist a little Ice-Mint and apply once or twice daily. This cooling and soothing preparation quickly relieves the itching and soreness, stops pain and aids in healing the affected parts. Try it. Ice-Mint is highly recommended and is easy and pleasant to use. It seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy that is so easy to use may be had at such small cost.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

New York, Nov. 24 (AP)—Slightly brighter foreign skies, coupled with further evidence of domestic business improvement, stimulated a recovery of fractions to 2 or more points in today's stock market.

Extreme advances were registered at a fast opening. Thereafter the trading volume dwindled with offerings a bit more conspicuous.

Near the final hour initial upturns were shaded on heavy in many instances. The activity remained comparatively low. Transfers approximated 1,800,000 shares.

Prominent on the comeback were shares of U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Crucible, Republic Steel, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Macy, Safeway Stores, General Motors, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, United Aircraft, Curtiss-Wright, "A", American Telephone, Western Union, International Paper & Power Preferred, Shell Union Oil, Westinghouse, Union Carbide, du Pont, Allied Chemical, Goodyear, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania, J. & J. Sugar, National Biscuit and Cuban-American Sugar.

Rise Announced In Steel Prices

Bridgeport Brass declared 50-cent special dividend. United Fruit authorized $1.25 special payment. North American announced 25-cent extra. St. Joseph Lead declared a 25-cent special. United Stores declared $1.81 on preferred accruals. Public Service of Northern Illinois voted $1 special. Savage Arms resumed common payments with $1.15 since September 1931 and voted $6 on six per cent second preferred, first since February, 1932.

A steel price mark-up was announced by Carnegie-Illinois, ranging from $2 to $4 a ton. The sharper increases are on products going to the motor industry. Other companies are expected to follow the rises. As new prices are effective December 1 on sales for 1937 first quarter shipment, customers must act quickly to get the old rate. It probably will provide the industry with good business volume for the first month. The question is how long it will take industry to complete deliveries under old rates and begin receiving benefit of the price jump.

U. S. Steel October net is estimated at 30 to 35 cents a common share.

Reading October was $1,530,849 vs. $1,395,038 a year ago; Illinois Central $2,214,029 vs. $1,923,703. President S. T. Bledsoe of Atchafalaya said current business is showing a slightly larger percentage increase over a year ago than in earlier months.

Loew's net in year to August 31 equaled $4.53 a share, common share against $4.53 a year ago. Walgreen in year to September 30 showed net equal to $3.04 a share vs. $2.52. Third quarter net of National Power and Light was equal to 21 cents a common share vs. 15 cents. Allied Stores in third quarter showed $1,330,850 net against $757,870, both totals being before federal taxes.

St. Joseph Lead sales this year to date are about 35 per cent ahead of 1935; final six months net is estimated at better than 33 cents a share shown in first half.

National Supply 1936 net is estimated at $7.50 a share, best showing in decade vs. $4.03 a share in 1935. Noranda Mines estimated its 1936 net at $2.92 a share, a capital gain against $1.42 a year ago. World tin consumption in year ended September 30, totaled 153,751 tons, up 14 per cent over previous year; most went for tinplate, some to motor industry.

Old Mr. Bear Jumps Hunter Holds Fire

This is the tale of the bear who got away. It seems that Jason Carle, Jr., of Henry street, and his college chum, Hollister Sutton, both of Rider College in New Jersey, were spending a few days at the Carle home here and decided to enjoy themselves small game hunting at Zena.

They were particularly anxious to bag a few rabbits, and arrived on the hunting grounds bright and early, but time passed and not a rabbit ventured out. Young Carle threw himself behind a large bush ready to shoot if Mr. Rabbit made an appearance while Sutton plumped himself down behind another large bush some distance away.

Suddenly Carle heard an odd noise and raised his head above the bush to obtain a view of what was causing it. As he did so a large black bear crashed through some bushes a few feet distance from him. The appearance of the bear was a sudden that Carle was startled and before he thought of taking aim the bear disappeared down the side of a rocky hill.

The boys returned home later in the day with a bag of rabbits and squirrels, but no bear steak graced the dining table.

Awarded Peace Prizes

Oso, Norway, Nov. 24 (AP)—Carl Von Ossietzky, German pacifist, and Carlos Saavedra Lamas, Argentine foreign minister, were announced as winners of Nobel peace prizes. The prize for 1935 was awarded to Von Ossietzky, pacifist, who was freed recently from a German prison and who had been mentioned frequently as a probable winner. Saavedra Lamas, president of the League of Nations and recent president of the League Assembly, received the award for 1934. German Minister Salin declared a regret for the award to Von Ossietzky and asserted it "will create the embarrassment of Germany."

10 Days for Vagrancy

Juan Antonovich, 20, home address, and John Moritz of Brooklyn, were given 10 days in jail when arrested on charges of being state tramps. The two men were picked up Monday by Trooper Lynn Baker of Tugue and arrested before Justice Joseph J. Hendrich.

Mrs. Adams was born in the village of Sag Harbor, L. I., in 1866, the only daughter of Charles Sherrill Hedges and Virginia Brown Hedges. Her ancestors, who came from England two centuries ago and located in what is now East Hampton were among the earliest settlers of eastern Long Island. Mrs. Adams was a member of the First Reformed Church of Kingston; an active member of the board of managers for the Home for the Aged; a member of the Lowell Club, the D. A. R. and other civic and social organizations. She was the devoted mother of five children, four of whom survive her: Helen Adams Bright of Portland, Ore.; Benjamin Hedges Adams of Atlanta, Ga.; Robert Goss Adams of Riverport, N. J.; and Elizabeth Adams De Garmon of Poughkeepsie, with whom she has made her home in recent months, although maintaining her residence in Kingston. The funeral will be at her home in this city, 187 Pine street, on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Burial will be in Westlawn Cemetery.

Says Mrs. Marcus Will Recover After Taking Treatment

At the home of Samuel Marcus on lower Hasbrouck avenue this afternoon, Dr. M. H. Evans of Joplin, Mo., told a Freeman reporter that he had strong hopes for the recovery of Mr. Marcus's wife, Sylvia, who has been at death's door for more than five months with streptococcus viridans.

"She'll recover, I am sure," said the 76-year-old physician, who made a special trip to Kingston to take care of Mrs. Marcus. "I've treated cases of blood infection for more than 25 years, and never lost a patient."

"This streptococcus viridans puzzles physicians. They do not know the proper treatment, but I claim I can do more than any of them in cases of infection."

"The process or treatment I use disinfects the blood, as it were, and puts it in healthy condition."

Dr. Evans said he offered the treatment and his formula to some of the country's outstanding laboratories, but they have not accepted the offer yet.

"I am satisfied beyond a doubt that Mrs. Marcus will get well. She has shown improvement since we started the treatments."

Dr. Evans said he intended to leave Kingston tonight, and that he has left instructions for the Marcuses to carry out in giving the treatment.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

Now They Know

St. Petersburg, Fla.—A pair of youthful skeptics brought firemen on the run when they turned in a false alarm.

A boy of 7 and his 8-year-old companion were waiting beside the box when the firemen arrived, and readily admitted they turned in the alarm.

"Our teacher taught us what to do in case of a fire and we just wanted to see if it would work," they explained.

Parking Charge

Pittsburgh—The costs of overtime parking are going up. Police are warning violators by telegraph-collect.

Patrol wagons come for those who ignore the telegrams.

The Marrying Musketeers

Hays, Kas.—Isadore Windholz, a sharp bargainer, asked a jeweler the price of a wedding ring. Then, "how much for two?" Getting a discount, he went on—"and three?" Perplexed, the jeweler made him a nice reduction on the quantity lot.

Wedding music soon filled a church, and the brothers Windholz—Isadore, Wendelin and Anselm—married down the aisle with their brides.

Charity

Cleveland—Victor J. Jones isn't going to eat the 14-pound turkey he won at a Thanksgiving party.

He left the party to place his prize in a friend's automobile and then returned to the festivities. When the party was over, he discovered he had put the bird to roost in the wrong car.

Education Mayors Cupid

Chicago—Mrs. Tillie Osberg, 48, testified in her suit for separate maintenance her husband, Jacob, 48, loved her "until he learned to read and write English."

"Now he wants an up to date wife," she said.

The court awarded her a temporary weekly allowance of $10.

Coincidence

Orchard, Neb.—An Iowa stock-buyer here on business asked information of a stranger he encountered on the street. The man called to a passing farmer, explaining the latter could provide the information.

"My name is George Johnson," said the Iowa.

"My name is George Johnson," replied the farmer.

"And my name," said the third man, "is George Johnson, and I'm an auctioneer."

Juliana and Prince Get Tidy Fortune

The Hague, The Netherlands, Nov. 24 (AP)—Princess Juliana, heiress to the throne of the Netherlands, and Prince Bernhard of Lippe-Bleisfeld will have a tidy sum on which to live after their marriage January 7.

Together, they will receive 400,000 florins (about $217,000) a year. Princess Juliana has had 200,000 florins a year in her own name since she was 18 years old. She is now 27.

Parliament voted Prince Bernhard another 200,000 florins for himself, effective on his wedding day.

Her mother, Queen Wilhelmina, began her 47th year on the throne of the Netherlands today. There were no celebrations either by the people or the royal family.

Flatbush Services

Thanksgiving services in the Flatbush Reformed Church will be held Thursday evening, November 26, starting at 7:30 o'clock. An invitation is extended to all to attend.

Townsend Club Meeting

Wednesday evening at Mechanics Hall the Townsend Club will hold a jubilee meeting. A local clergyman will be the principal speaker. The public is welcome.

Insects Foul Enemies

There are insects which mimic some actual object, twigs, leaves, sticks or moss, and in each case the object which the insect has imitated is just what its natural enemies are not interested in, so that it is not likely to attract their eye.

For example, the leaf insect, so long as it remains still among the foliage, is safe, because the birds, squirrels and lizards which prey upon it do not eat leaves.

Buccigross-Schick

On Sunday morning, November 22, at 10 o'clock, the marriage of Miss Mary Margaret Schick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Schick of Connelly, was solemnized at the Church of the Presentation, Port Ewen, with a nuptial Mass celebrated by the Rev. Martin T. Luddy, C. S. S. R. Lyle Embree, of Catskill, presided at the organ and Miss Edna Wallace, of Catskill, sang "Ave Maria," by Rosewig, prior to the ceremony. While Lohengrin's Wedding March was being played the bride appeared on the arm of her father, George Schick. She wore a gown of white brocade with long train, with Queen Anne collar and long train. Her veil, which was fifteen feet long, was worn turban style and caught in place with sprays of orange blossoms and lilies of the valley. She carried an arm bouquet of white bridal roses. Mrs. John Schneider of Kingston, twin sister of the bride, was Miss Schick's only attendant. Mrs. Schneider wore a gown of lilac velvet, tunic effect, and lilac turban with maine veil and gloves to match. She carried lilac carnations. The best man was Nicholas Ross, of Catskill. The ushers were Robert Cimorelli, of Catskill, and John Schneider of Kingston. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at Golden Rule Inn, Esopus, and a reception followed at Spiny's ball, Port Ewen, for 150 guests. Al Yannoni and his eight-piece orchestra of Catskill, furnished music for dancing. The bride's traveling costume was a green suit with black accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Buccigross are touring the New England states and expect to be gone one week. Mrs. Buccigross is a graduate of Kingston High School and Mr. Buccigross of St. Patrick's Academy, Catskill. Mr. Buccigross is the proprietor of a hair-dressing studio in Catskill and the young couple will reside in an apartment adjoining the studio. Mrs. Buccigross will continue her work as a beautician in the studio.

Birthdays Party

On Saturday night a surprise party was given in honor of Mrs. Myron Kirchner of 31 Ravine street. She was the recipient of many useful gifts. About midnight a luncheon was served. The guests who were present were Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Silkworth of Olive Bridge, Mr. and Mrs. George Burgher and daughters, Melissa and Norma, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Burgher of West Shokan, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Barringer of Samsonville, Miss Hazel Burgher, Bertie Markle of Krumville and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lawatsch of Flushing, L. I. The guests departed at a late hour wishing her many more happy birthdays.

Miss Betty Schwarzschilder of Chichester spent this past week-end at Syracuse University. On Saturday she attended the Syracuse-Colgate football game.

On Sunday Mrs. Arthur Ellison, Miss Abigail Ellison, Miss Mildred Ludwig, Robert Van Kleeck and Ralph Reede motored to West Point where they attended the organ recital by Frederick Mayer in the Cathedral. Afterward they were spectators at the Dress Parade.

Theron Culver and Raymond Rignall are representing the Kingston members of the New York State Teachers' Association at the meeting of the House of Delegates at Syracuse.

Carey-Leonard

Mrs. Patrick A. Leonard, 1518 Rugby Road, Schenectady, announces the marriage of her daughter, Eleanor Patricia, to Joseph B. Carey, son of Mrs. Matthew T. Carey, 688 Morris street, Albany, on Monday, November 23. The marriage was solemnized by the Rev. William H. Kennedy at St. Mary's Church, Kingston, at 10:30 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Hallinan of Kingston were the attendants. Mrs. Carey is a graduate of St. John's Academy in Schenectady. Mr. Carey is a graduate of Union College and is now the district representative of the U. S. Department of Labor in Schenectady.

Barnes-Kolby

New Paltz, Nov. 24—Miss Grace M. Kolby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Uriah S. Kolby of East Orange, N. J., and Edward M. Barnes, son of Irving C. Barnes and the late Mrs. Barnes of New Paltz, were married at the home of the bride's parents Friday night, November 20. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Robert Brewster Beattie, pastor of the Munn Avenue Presbyterian Church. The bride was attended by her sister, Helen E. Kolby, as maid of honor, and Elizabeth Ink of New York was bridesmaid. Theodore Clapp of Brooklyn was best man, and the ushers were the groom's two brothers, Rodney Barnes, of New York, and Gilbert Barnes, of Brewster, and Dr. William Rolin and Warren Hunter of East Orange. The bride wore the bridegroom's paternal grandmother's wedding gown of ivory silk made bequeathed with high neckline, bell sleeves and trimmed with lace. Her ivory tulle veil fell from cap of rose point lace in coronation style fastened with orange blossoms. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley with a lace ruff. Mrs. Barnes was graduated from Schenectady College and Mr. Barnes attended the schools in New Paltz and was graduated from Union College.

Harder-Pepper

Miss Marjorie Pepper and Clayton Harder of Woodstock were united in marriage Saturday, November 21, at St. John's M. E. parsonage, Newburgh, by the Rev. William R. Peckham. They were attended by Arthur Pepper and Barbara Shattuck.

Thanksgiving Dance
The Arden's Annual Grand Chapter will hold its second annual Thanksgiving dance at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria Friday evening, November 27. Outside guests are invited to attend and the dancing will begin at 9 p. m. The dress will be formal and those seeking to make reservations should inform Carmel Spasato, 56 W. Sidney avenue, Mount Vernon.

Surprise Shower

Hurley, Nov. 24.—A surprise miscellaneous shower was given in honor of Miss Juanita Saydor on Friday evening, November 20, at the church parsonage by the Berean Class and the Forum. The room was very prettily decorated in a pink and white color scheme. The bride-to-be was showered with many presents as they fell from an umbrella also in pink and white. After the opening of the gifts the guests were ushered into another room where delicious refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed. Those who attended were Mrs. Frank Snyder, Mrs. W. Snyder, Mrs. Leonard Lockwood, Mrs. Walter Stauble, Martha Smith, Phyllis Smith, Mrs. R. Smith, Mrs. A. Rowse, Dorothy Rowse, Vilma Myer, Marion Myer, Mrs. Ernest DuBois, Mrs. S. Weidner, Mrs. George Brown, Margaret Brown, Sarah Brink, Mrs. Ernest Myer, June Johnson, Marjorie Winchell, Hazel Bacon, Bertha Ross, Kathryn Brown, Mrs. Charles Gustafson, Mrs. George Dixon, Mrs. Chester Chilton, Mrs. Wesley Ten Eyck, Joan Ten Eyck and the bride-to-be, Juanita Saydor.

Twentieth Century

Mrs. Safford was the hostess of the Twentieth Century Club on Monday afternoon. During the business session a report was given of the Better Homes Class of the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs, many of those present being interested in joining this group. The lectures to be sponsored by the Young Married Women's Club of the Y. W. C. A. were also spoken of. The afternoon program was devoted to a report of the recent New York State Federation of Women's Club recent convention as given by Mrs. Harry B. Walker. It was a comprehensive, valuable, interesting and highly appreciated report. The next club meeting of the Twentieth Century Club will be held on December 14 at the home of Mrs. Edmonston.

Sorosis

On Monday afternoon Sorosis members met at the home of Mrs. Brown on Smith avenue. Mrs. Brigham's paper for the day on "A Cross Section of English Society" was exceedingly interesting, including as it did the titled, the middle-class and the laboring people of England. The roll call was "Famous People of England" covering statesmen, social service workers, playwrights, etc. On November 30, Miss Merritt will be the club hostess. The program will include a paper on "English Customs," by Mrs. DeWitt, and one on "English Legends and Holidays," by Mrs. Drake.

50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Gordon of Kripplush quietly celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday, November 22 by entertaining their family at dinner in the Hotel Stuyvesant.

Ahl-Doyle

On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock St. Peter's Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when Miss Sue Doyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle of Saugerties, became the bride of Joseph N. Ahl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ahl, of this city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Henry E. Herdogen, assistant pastor. The bride, who was gown in brown, with accessories to match, was attended by Miss Catherine E. Ahl, sister of the groom. Miss Ahl wore green with accessories to match. The groom was attended by his brother, Edward J. Ahl. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the groom, for the immediate members of the families. Mr. and Mrs. Ahl will reside at 51½ Hoffman street, where a newly furnished home awaits them.

Tierney-Hallion

The marriage of Miss Ruth Hallion and Francis J. Tierney of Veterans, was solemnized on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in St. John's Church, The Clove, by the Rev. Edmund T. Hart, pastor of St. Mary's Church, of Saugerties, who had been requested by the bride's couple, and had special permission of the Rev. John B. Conroy, pastor of St. John's, to perform the ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father, James Hallion. Mrs. Bert Frisbie rendered the wedding march. Father Hart assisted at the marriage of the groom's parents 22 years ago. The newlyweds will reside at Veterans.

Smith-Lewis

The marriage of Arthur L. Smith of Malden and Gladys M. Lewis, daughter of Watson Lewis of West Camp, took place Monday morning at the Altamont Lutheran Church parsonage, Market street, Saugerties. The Rev. W. F. Herd performed the ceremony in the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith, Jr., Malden. After a honeymoon spent in New York city, Mr. and Mrs. Smith will reside in West Camp.

Broadway: "Give Me Your Heart." Aimed at sophisticated audiences who have a taste for illicit love, this pathological study of a woman who loved not wisely, but too well and who spent the rest of her life in mingled moments of regret and worry is screen drama of great emotional scope. Kay Francis, the star, is cast in the role of a wealthy woman who falls in love with an English peer and discovers she is to become a mother. The peer has an invalid wife so she leaves the child in the custody of his family and comes to America where she marries and lives with her memories. It is a story built on tragedy and it possesses a strange appeal both gripping and startling. Miss Francis is aided by such players as George Brent, Patrick Knowles, Roland Young, Henry Stephenson and Frieda Inescort. A Warner Brothers picture directed by Archie L. Mayo.

Kingston: "The Big Game" and "Bengal Tiger." Last year's All-American football selections join hands with the picture stars and jointly make one of those crazy gridiron pictures that is a mixture of thrills, comedy and college spirit. Philip Huston, June Travis, Bruce Cabot, Andy Devine and Jimmie Gleason are among the featured players in the show and the football shots are unusually good with Gomer Jones, Bill Shakespeare, Jay Berwanger, Monk Moscrip, Bobby Wilson and Frank Alustiza performing with skill, dexterity and rhythm. The picture was adapted from a novel by Wallace Wade. "Bengal Tiger" is the other attraction, a jungle thriller of unusual quality.

Orpheum: "Sins of Man" and "Sitting on the Moon." Jean Hersholt steps into a role made famous by Emil Jannings in the best of the features at the downtown theatre, a grim drama of reality that points a moral and pulls no punches. Don Ameche and Allen Jenkins are good in supporting roles. "Sitting on the Moon" is the other full length attraction, a bright, tuneful romance with Roger Pryor and Grace Bradley featured.

Broadway: "Stage Struck." Billed as the show with a real love interest because of the marriage of Dick Powell and Joan Blondell, the co-stars of the attraction, this show is a comedy of the snap stick variety with songs, dances and laughter all mixed into a fast paced hour of enjoyment. Mr. Powell sings his head off and a newcomer by the name of Jeanne Madden almost steals the warbling honors away from Mr. Powell. Comedian Frank McHugh, augmented by the Yacht Club Boys, gives a swell laugh characterization and others in the cast are Warren William, Craig Reynolds and Hobart Cavanaugh. Dances were conceived by Busby Berkeley and this Warner Brothers show combines all the best features of their former musical hits. Here is an elaborate show, filled to the brim with new songs and dance features.

Will Sing Tonight

Chicago, Nov. 24 (AP)—Amelita Galli-Curci was nervous today and glad of it—she said it was a good omen for her second operatic "debut" in the city where 20 years ago she first won fame. An audience in Chicago's Civic Opera House will hear for the first time tonight what Mme. Galli-Curci calls her new soprano voice, developed after a colder operation here in August, 1935. It will be her first public appearance since a concert in Japan last June. She will appear as Mimì in "La Bohème."

Sankhi Entertainment

St. Ann's Hall will be a scene of mirth and merriment tomorrow night as the many friends of this church gather for an evening's entertainment with refreshments. Games begin at 8.15.

NEW 1937 STUDEBAKER

challenges all cars in gas economy!

STUDEBAKER DEFLATES GAS MILEAGE CLAIMS!

STUDEBAKER cars have made magnificent records in gasoline economy. But you don't care about records achieved under special circumstances. You want to know what good, bad and indifferent drivers get under average conditions.

O. K. We will tell you! Studebaker hired Facts, Inc., a business research organization, to question 300 owners of each of the ten most popular makes of automobiles (1936 models). Each driver was asked: "What gasoline mileage do you get?"

The best showing was made by Studebaker. Owners of the Dictator, with overdrive, testified to an average of 18.166 miles per gallon. Even the most popular lightest weight, lowest priced cars need more gas per mile.

Without overdrive, the Studebaker Dictator showed 17.199 miles per gallon—which is better than one of the two most popular, lowest priced cars.

STUDEBAKER'S CHALLENGE!

No other standard make of car can beat the gas mileage of the Dictator equipped with automatic overdrive in the hands of the average driver under ordinary conditions.

Explaining "Social Security"

26 Million Workers Pay Now
—To Be Paid When They're 65

Some 26 million workers are taking the first step toward securing for themselves old-age benefits after they become 65 years old. That step, filling out cards for government records, spotlights the social security program. This is the first of three daily articles explaining the three major points in the program—old-age benefits, unemployment compensation, and aid for the blind, the needy aged and dependent children.

By SIGRID ARNE

Washington (AP)—Starting January 1, there will be a 1 per cent reduction in the pay checks of some 26,000,000 workers to remind them they are under a social insurance plan. That money will go to the United States treasury as an old-age benefit tax.

Employers will pay an equal tax on their entire payrolls. Both sums will go toward eventual retirement of workers after they are 65 years old.

Each of these workers is to have a card like this:

To get such a card a worker must fill out an application and send it to his local postmaster. Then the government will start keeping a record of his working time and earnings. Every time he shifts his job, or his pay changes, the fact will be recorded.

An "Obsolescence" Fund

He will go on about his business, and the money he and his employers are contributing will be held by the government. In effect, workers will be saving that small amount each month toward their old age. And employers, in effect, will be putting away a fund for the "obsolescence" of their employees, just as they now save to replace old machines.

The tax on the worker's pay check will graduate upward after 1939 until it reaches 3 per cent in the same manner.

The old-age benefits will begin if the worker: 1. Is 65 years old and gives up regular employment. 2. Has earned a total of at least $2,000 since 1936. 3. Has earned wages for at least one day in each of five different years.

Insurance—Not Charity

He need not be impoverished—social insurance, says the security board, is really insurance and not charity. The worker will have a right to the payments when the time comes, just as he would have a right to collect an annuity.

The payments will be between $10 and $85 a month. They will be calculated on the total wages the worker earns between January 1, 1937, and his sixty-fifth birthday. But a worker earning more than $3,000 annually from one employer will be taxed only on

$250	37.50	56.25	68.75	81.25

MINIMUM MONTHLY BENEFIT — $10. MAXIMUM — $85

HOW BENEFITS PILE UP

Monthly benefits workers can expect after reaching the age of 65 under the social security act are indicated by the samples here. The higher the earnings, with certain limits, and the longer the worker is employed before reaching 65, the more he gets.

$3,000 of his salary, and only that much of it will be counted in calculating his benefit.

If he earns $5,000 from a single employer, $2,000 of it will not be taxed. But if in the same year he is paid $3,000 by one employer and $2,000 by a second employer, the whole $5,000 will be taxed. And if he should be paid $5,000 a year on one job and $3,000 in the same year by another employer, he would be taxed on $3,000 of each salary—that is, on $6,000.

Wages will be counted regardless of the number of different establishments or states in which the worker has been employed.

When the time comes to retire, the amount the worker will get each month will be decided by adding up three figures:

The first figure will be 1/2 of 1 per cent of the first $3,000 earned. The second figure will be 1-12 of 1 per cent of the next $42,000. The third figure will be 1-24 of 1 per cent of all above $45,000.

Worker Can't Lose

When the worker, having reached 65, decides to retire, he will apply to his district office for the old-age benefits. His record will be gone over by the social security board, his monthly payment computed and that payment certified to the Treasury.

From then on as long as the worker lives a monthly check will arrive by mail from the Treasury. If he dies before he has been given the full amount he paid in, his family will be reimbursed.

YOUNG MAN'S OUTLOOK

How social security benefits will be calculated for a man of 30 earning $150 a month is shown here.

No one is forced to retire at 65, but the old-age tax stops on a man's wages at that time. When he finally stops work, he receives the usual old-age benefits computed on the amount he earned
